Captivate, Educate, Motivate!

I am a professional educator/entertainer with for over twenty years of experience working with schools, libraries, summer, and day camps. I have learned the “Art” of sleight of hand magic, primarily from reading books on the subject, and then putting into practice the things I studied.

It is my goal to captivate the minds of today’s students, so I can then educate them, to further motivate them.

My assembly programs do just that!

Magic captures the imagination. “How did he do that?” is the spark which gets the mind reeling in the direction of “I want to learn!” The mind in this state is open to learn and receive information which coincides with material being taught in the classroom, as well as introducing new concepts which will be taught further in their education.

The programs I offer are full of incredible sleight of hand magic. These are programs that will have the students on the edge of their seats in full focussed attention, ready to learn about reading and language, mathematics, or how to get along with each other and being a positive influence in their communities.

I am currently offering three programs, which are age grade adaptable k-middle school, with a focus on... 1. reading, 2. math/science, 3. character development

The skills of language and communication are of extreme importance.

1. “The Magic of Reading” program inspires/motivates students to read for fun and reinforces concepts taught in current “Reading First” programs.

Math and science can be intimidating for some students.

2. “Math, Measure, Movement, and Magic” takes the fear out of math, teaches division, fractions, weights, physics, geometry, and more! This program is full of comedy, amazing sleight of hand magic, and finishes with a student floating on the top of three balloons!

Learning to get along with each other is a timeless dilemma.

3. “Hands are for Helping” shows non violent solutions for conflict resolution. Incredibly visual magic tricks are used to instill strategies for solving problems, and offering alternatives to violence, and avoidance. Working as team is encouraged.

I have a passion for teaching. I also have a passion for entertaining. Mixing these two passions together(entertainment and education) with a genuine care for today’s youth make for an assembly experience that truly does captivate, educate, and motivate!

I look forward to hearing from you soon, call for more information, or custom programs!
